Terroir

The viognier comes from a dry land vineyard in Malmesbury, the chenin blanc from Stellenbosch and the grenache blanc from Piekenierskloof near Citrusdal.

Vinification and maturation

The chenin blanc and grenache blanc are matured in French oak barrels before being blended with the viognier. The blended wine is then cold-stabilized, filtered and bottled.

Features

Complex flavours of flowers, dried fruit and spice. A wine with a rich and creamy texture, elegant minerality and a hint of oak. Well-balanced natural acidity with a long finish.

Food Pairings

Perfect as an aperitif or with shrimp hors d'oeuvres, citrusy cedar-planked salmon or grilled pork tenderloin with mango sauce.

Medals / Press reviews

« This is a vibrant South African white wine blend of Viognier, Chenin Blanc and Grenache Blanc grapes. The Wolftrap label is produced by the Boekenhoutskloof winery. Subtle floral and white peach on the nose: bursts like sunshine on the palate. Medium-bodied and lovely. Pair with mild curries. » - Natalie MacLean: 88/100

Other information

A Wine Drawn from Legend: When the farm was founded, the Franschoek valley was far wilder than it is today – as the wolf trap we once discovered goes to show. Today, the mountains are still alive with indigenous animals, including the majestic leopard. No evidence of wolves has ever been found though, so we created this wine to remind us of the mysteries and legends of days gone by.
